In his address, Li Lecheng pointed out that the Chinese government attaches great importance to the development of digital technologies and artificial intelligence (AI), actively creating new forms of smart economy, and has achieved fruitful outcomes. The Outline of the 15th Five-Year Plan calls for further efforts in building Digital China and enhancing the level of digital and intelligent development. China will further deepen reforms comprehensively, continue to expand high-standard opening up, and provide new opportunities for the development of the Asia-Pacific region and the world with new achievements in Chinese modernization. China attaches great importance to international cooperation on digital and AI technologies and is willing to work with all parties to continuously empower the Asia-Pacific community through digital and AI technologies, jointly injecting new impetus into Asia-Pacific cooperation. He expressed the hope that APEC economies will strengthen exchanges and cooperation in areas such as policies, technologies, talents and standards, continuously enhance digital and AI empowerment, and foster new strengths for innovation-driven development in the Asia-Pacific region. First, jointly seize the strategic opportunities presented by technological changes, and accelerate efforts in leveraging digital and AI technologies to empower various industries through technology promotion, joint research and development, and other means. Second, jointly promote the inclusive sharing of innovation achievements, strengthen cooperation in building inclusive digital service capabilities, promote lightweight intelligent tools and solutions that are low-threshold, easy to deploy and affordable, and speed up efforts to narrow the digital and AI divide. Third, jointly cultivate an open, interconnected and unified market, maintain the stability and resilience of global industrial and supply chains for digital and AI technologies, deepen open-source and open cooperation in technology, and create a competitive open innovation ecosystem.

省委常委、常务副省长董卫民，APEC 成员经济体、秘书处及观察员代表，国际组织代表，国家有关部委和省直有关部门负责人等参加相关会议。

On the morning of July 25, the APEC Data for Growth High-Level Roundtable was held in Chengdu. Liu Liehong, Chair of the Roundtable and Director of the National Data Administration; Shi Xiaolin, Deputy Secretary of the CPC Sichuan Provincial Committee and Governor of the People's Government of Sichuan Province; Chen Xu, Chair of the 2026 APEC Senior Officials' Meeting; and Eduardo Pedrosa, Executive Director of the APEC Secretariat, attended the event and delivered speeches.

Liu Liehong said in his speech that at present, a new round of scientific and technological revolution and industrial transformation represented by artificial intelligence (AI) is accelerating, and the role of data as a fundamental resource and an innovation engine is becoming increasingly apparent, profoundly changing production, lifestyle and governance models. Boosting data development and utilization and unleashing the value of data elements to drive economic growth has become an important task faced by all economies. We have forged consensus on the vision of "Data for Growth" and opened up new space for deeper APEC cooperation. We work together to promote mutual recognition of data rules, interconnectivity of data infrastructure, and sharing of data value, injecting new development momentum into the APEC family. Data for growth is reflected in many aspects such as scientific and technological innovation, AI development, industrial transformation and upgrading, the cultivation of emerging business formats, and the growth of digital trade. We believe that strengthening exchanges and cooperation centered on data for growth will help further enrich the connotation of APEC digital economy cooperation, achieve win-win and all-win results through practical cooperation, and offer new pathways for inclusive growth featuring shared prosperity. China is willing to work with all APEC economies to uphold openness, inclusiveness, mutual learning, mutual benefit and win-win results, jointly unleash the value of data elements, share digital development opportunities, and make new contributions to promoting innovation development, improving productivity and boosting economic growth across the Asia-Pacific region.

In her address, Shi Xiaolin quoted President Xi Jinping as saying at the 2026 World AI Conference, "China is ready to be more open, take more practical actions, and assume a more visionary perspective. We are ready to work with all parties to seize the opportunities of AI development and meet the challenges, and join hands to create a brighter future for humanity." In recent years, Sichuan has taken the digital economy as an important driving force in promoting high-quality development. It has accelerated the construction of the National Pilot Zone for Digital Economy Innovation and Development, the National Pilot Zone for AI Innovation and Application, and a hub of the national integrated computing power network. The province has vigorously advanced the reform on market-oriented allocation of data elements, improved the system for transforming data into usable resources, fostering data as a production factor, and unlocking data value, and promoted in-depth integration of the real economy and the digital economy. This has fostered a sound momentum under which the digital economy empowers all industries to pursue accelerated growth. This event serves not only as an important platform for APEC economies to discuss frontier ideas and advanced experience on data-driven development, but also as a valuable opportunity for Sichuan to advance innovative development of the digital economy. Shi Xiaolin expressed hope to leverage the APEC Digital Week as a bridge to strengthen mutual learning with all partners, deepen research on data governance rules, digital economy and trade systems, and digital technology standards, share innovative outcomes enabled by data and AI in industrial development, people's well-being, social governance and other fields, and build an open and collaborative digital ecosystem. Drawing on the APEC digital cooperation mechanism, Sichuan hopes to establish higher-level cooperation platforms for circulation of data elements, research on cutting-edge algorithms, and coordinated development of digital industries. The province will strive to deliver more practical results in the digital economy, digital society and smart cities, ensure that digital and AI technologies are for the positive and for good and are safe, secure and controllable, and continuously unleash fresh impetus for digital and AI cooperation. She also expressed that everyone is welcome to travel across Sichuan to experience the beauty of its natural ecology, the charm of its diverse culture, feel the pulse of the times in the "Land of Abundance", and jointly create a promising future empowered by digital and AI technologies through win-win cooperation.

Chen Xu said in his speech that at present, data has evolved from a mere carrier of information into a new type of production factor. How to meet the growing demand for data in the AI era, unleash data value and boost innovative economic growth are issues of common concern for all parties. We need to improve the development of data infrastructure to jointly narrow the AI divide; scale up the supply of high-quality data to support cross-industry and cross-sector integrated applications; and deepen the development and utilization of data resources, leverage the strengths of APEC's multi-tiered pragmatic cooperation mechanisms, and carry out policy communication and experience sharing, so as to fully unleash the value of data resources.

In his address, Eduardo Pedrosa noted that as one of the most important elements of economic resources, data can create value only when it flows and is shared. The growth of the digital economy depends on the ability to facilitate the flow of information and data, and on learning from each other, sharing experience and finding effective ways to cooperate, which is one of APEC's greatest advantages. He expressed hope that exchanges and cooperation will assist all member economies in strengthening regional cooperation and unleashing the value of data, to ensure that digital dividends are shared as widely as possible.

Yu Ying, Deputy Director of the National Data Administration, presided over the event. Representatives of APEC economies and observers held exchanges and discussions on topics such as advancing the development and utilization of data and promoting data-driven growth.

On the afternoon of July 25, a symposium on APEC data and AI empowering industrial development was held in Chengdu. Liu Liehong, Mayor of Chengdu Chen Shuping, and Eduardo Pedrosa delivered speeches. Mohammad Nazri Mohammad Yusof, Permanent Secretary of the Ministry of Transport and Infocommunications of Brunei, and Zhan Yongxin, Co-Chair of the Pacific Economic Cooperation Council, delivered thematic speeches. The event also featured special discussions on data-enabled AI development as well as data and AI cooperation and exchanges in the logistics sector.

Dong Weimin, Member of the Standing Committee of the CPC Sichuan Provincial Committee and Executive Vice Governor of the People's Government of Sichuan Province; representatives from APEC member economies, the APEC Secretariat and observers; representatives of international organizations; leading officials from relevant ministries and commissions, as well as leaders of relevant provincial departments attended relevant events.

From July 1 to August 2, more than 200 young students from Russia and Thailand gathered at Southwestern University of Finance and Economics (SWUFE) for the 2026 "Reading China in Sichuan" International Student Summer School, hosted by the College of International Education. Through a blend of language learning, field studies, and cultural experiences, they embarked on a summer journey to discover a real, multi-dimensional, and comprehensive China.

Learning Across Cultures, Inquiring in the Classroom

The summer school built a dual-track curriculum of "language advancement + cultural immersion" tailored to international students' needs.

In the language-learning component, comprehensive advanced Chinese courses were tied to real-life situations, using scenario simulations and group dialogues to help students break down language barriers and move from "daring to speak" to "speaking well." The "Bashu Chinese Show" blended dialects and slang with regional culture, letting students unlock the linguistic code of the Sichuan-Chongqing region through fun interaction.

In the cultural component, a series of courses with distinctive Chinese aesthetics were offered. In calligraphy, students wielded brushes and experienced the upright structure of Chinese characters; in traditional Chinese painting, ink and color revealed the beauty of Eastern freehand brushwork; paper-cutting and Chinese knot tying tested craftsmanship and patience; bamboo weaving and blue-and-white tie-dye amazed students with the depth of intangible cultural heritage. In class, teachers and students interacted frequently, and the seeds of Chinese culture were quietly planted in young hearts amid ink, paper, and laughter.

Knowing and Doing in Bashu, Understanding China

Outside the classroom, the summer school designed a study route connecting the ancient and the modern, from ancient Shu civilization to modern smart manufacturing, bringing "Reading China in Sichuan" from the page to real life.

Exploring history, students visited the Sanxingdui Museum in Guanghan, exploring the millennia-old history of ancient Shu civilization through the bronze sacred tree and mysterious masks, and appreciating the unity in diversity of Chinese civilization. Encountering everyday life, at the Chengdu Research Base of Giant Panda Breeding, the adorable pandas captivated young people from all countries, while the intangible cultural heritage experience in Chongzhou allowed them to enjoy the folk customs of the western Sichuan plain amid the leisurely pace of life in the ancient town. Feeling the modern pulse, at the Tianfu Art Museum, they discovered the artistic character of Chengdu as a park city, while at Gree Electric Appliances and CATL, they witnessed the vitality of China's new quality productive forces.

From the mystery of ancient Shu civilization to the innovative vitality of modern enterprises, immersive field trips made "Reading China in Sichuan" tangible.

As all courses and study activities concluded, the 2026 "Reading China in Sichuan" International Student Summer School came to a close with a sense of achievement and reluctance to say goodbye. In just one month, more than 200 young students from abroad moved from Chinese classrooms to the streets of Bashu. Through a combination of "language learning + field studies + cultural experiences," they gained a fuller understanding of China in all its diversity.

Students said the summer school was rich in content and well-organized, helping them greatly improve their Chinese and allowing them to see, through the window of Bashu, a China that is both ancient and modern, traditional and open.

Promoting understanding through exchange and connecting hearts through culture, SWUFE will continue to rely on its disciplinary strengths and Bashu cultural resources to develop high-quality signature study-in-China programs such as "Reading China in Sichuan," creating an important window for young students from all countries to perceive, understand, and love China, and writing a new chapter of mutual learning among civilizations with the power of youth.

2023 级国际商学院毕业生 AVINASH KUMAR AVINASHI

From a Dream to Reality: My Unforgettable Journey at SWUFE

My name is Avinash Kumar Avinashi, and I am originally from India—a country rich in cultural diversity, ancient traditions, and countless aspirations. Among the millions who dream, I was one who dared to look beyond borders and envision a future in China. Reflecting on my journey today, I can say with complete conviction that choosing Southwestern University of Finance and Economics (SWUFE) has been one of the most rewarding decisions of my life.

Before arriving at this vibrant campus in Chengdu, I completed my undergraduate degree in Chinese Language at the Central University of Gujarat in India. Those formative years were more than just academic milestones—they represented my first genuine connection to a nation I had previously known only through books and stories. Each Chinese character I learned to write, every conversation I practiced, and every cultural insight I gained brought me steadily closer to a dream that seemed both distant and deeply compelling.

From the moment I first learned about SWUFE, I felt an immediate sense of belonging. Southwestern University of Finance and Economics is not merely an institution of higher learning—it is one of China's most distinguished universities, consistently ranked among the world's top institutions for management and economics. For someone like me, deeply interested in international business and committed to learning from the best, SWUFE represented the perfect destination to transform ambition into achievement.

A Mother's Welcome: My First Days at SWUFE

I still remember my first day at SWUFE vividly. When my friend and I arrived at the university, we approached the dormitory manager to request accommodation. Li Laoshi took immediate action and provided us with a dormitory room without any delay. The very next day, Li Laoshi took us out for food, making sure we felt at home. This experience taught me something important: SWUFE takes care of all international students like a mother. Whenever you have a problem, the staff are always ready to help with warmth and patience. This level of care is rare to find anywhere in the world.

My Academic Journey at SWUFE

I pursued my master's degree in International Business, and it turned out to be one of the best academic journeys of my life. The curriculum at SWUFE is world-class—carefully designed to equip students with both theoretical knowledge and practical skills. Studying alongside talented students from different countries, learning from exceptional faculty members who are experts in their fields, and engaging with diverse perspectives broadened my horizons in ways I never imagined.

SWUFE gave me the opportunity not only to learn about international business but also to understand different cultures and their worldviews—while deeply experiencing Chinese culture. The professors at SWUFE are not just teachers; they are mentors who genuinely care about your growth. Their dedication, professionalism, and passion for teaching inspired me every single day.

The university organized numerous activities throughout the year, and I made it a point to participate in as many as possible. From the Cultural Festival to the Annual Sports Day and various festival celebrations, each event brought me closer to my classmates and created memories I will cherish forever. SWUFE doesn't just educate your mind—it nurtures your soul.

Giving Back: My Volunteer Experience at SWUFE

During my master's studies, I had the privilege of serving as a volunteer in several meaningful programs that enriched my SWUFE journey in ways I never expected.

I participated in a summer camp program for Indonesian students, where I helped them navigate their new life at SWUFE and introduced them to the beauty of Chinese culture. From showing them around campus to sharing tips about local food and customs, it was heartwarming to see their excitement as they discovered China—just as I had done not long ago.

I also volunteered at local primary schools associated with SWUFE, spending time with young Chinese students and sharing stories about my culture, my country, and my journey. The children's curiosity and warmth reminded me of the power of cultural exchange at the grassroots level.

These experiences taught me something profound: SWUFE is not just about academics—it is about building a community and making a positive impact. The university creates countless opportunities for students to grow not only as professionals but also as compassionate human beings. Whether through formal programs or informal interactions, SWUFE nurtures an environment where giving back becomes second nature.

Industry Visits: Learning Beyond Textbooks at SWUFE

One of the most valuable aspects of my master's program was the opportunity to visit multiple leading companies in China. SWUFE's strong industry connections opened doors that few universities can offer, and I am eternally grateful for these experiences.

At FAW-Volkswagen, I witnessed Industry 4.0 technologies in action at one of China's largest automotive joint ventures. Walking along their automated assembly lines, I saw firsthand how theory transforms into practice—robots welding with precision, supply chains operating with clockwork efficiency, and quality control systems ensuring world-class standards. This was not something I could have learned from any textbook.

At HOPU Clean Energy, I gained deep insights into China's leadership in clean technology and new energy equipment. Understanding how AI, sensors, and IoT integrate into energy infrastructure showed me the direction in which the entire world is moving—and China is leading the way.

The visit to Siemens Digital Factory felt like stepping into the future. Experiencing digital twin technology and seeing how cyber-physical systems create fully digitalized production environments expanded my understanding of what modern manufacturing truly means. It was inspiring to see how multinational companies are transforming traditional industries with digital ecosystems.

At Moondrop Technology, I learned how Chinese brands build global recognition through innovation and storytelling. Observing their R&D processes and discussing their international marketing strategies gave me practical knowledge that I now apply in my own global business development role.

These visits were made possible only because of SWUFE's reputation and strong relationships with industry leaders. The university's name opens doors, its faculty provides guidance, and its network creates opportunities. I am deeply grateful for these experiences that bridged the gap between classroom learning and the real world—experiences that continue to benefit me every single day in my professional career.

Pride in SWUFE

As a SWUFE alumnus, I always feel an immense sense of pride. Whenever I tell people I studied at SWUFE, their eyes light up with recognition. They immediately acknowledge it as one of China's best universities—in fact, for many Chinese students, it's a dream university. This respect and recognition that SWUFE commands in academic and professional circles fills me with gratitude every single day.

SWUFE gave me not just a degree, but a brand that opens doors wherever I go. The quality of education, the supportive faculty, the vibrant international community, and the enriching environment have shaped me into the professional I am today.

Current Life: Taking What I Learned at SWUFE to the World

Currently, I am working at Zhengzhou Coal Mining Machinery Group Company Limited (ZMJ) in Zhengzhou, Henan province, as a Business Manager in the Global Business Development and International Marketing Department. ZMJ is a global leader in coal mining machinery, with a history dating back to 1958 and operations spanning countries like Indonesia, Australia, Russia, the United States, Turkey, and India.

My SWUFE education prepared me well for this role. The international business knowledge, cross-cultural communication skills, and understanding of global trade practices I gained during my master's studies help me navigate the complexities of international markets every single day. When I represent my company in global markets, I carry the SWUFE legacy with me.

A Message to Current and Future Students

To current and future SWUFE students: embrace every opportunity—the classes, the cultural activities, the industry visits, the friendships. SWUFE offers you a platform that few institutions can match. The university's commitment to excellence, its caring environment, and its global vision will shape not just your career, but who you become.

I will always be grateful to SWUFE for giving me quality education, lifelong memories, a global perspective, and a family away from home. SWUFE didn't just fulfill my dream of coming to China—it gave me dreams I never knew I could dream.

谢谢 SWUFE！我爱你，SWUFE！
